

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Saying Goodbye to the Idaho Freedom Caucus

Nampa, ID – Mon, Dec 9, 2024

Since the 2024 primary election, I've been reassessing where I invest my energy.

As a legislator, father of four homeschooled children, husband, and business owner, it's become painfully clear that I need to eliminate all distractions and focus on what truly matters. Earlier this year, I took the first step by severing ties with the libertarian-esque Young Americans for Liberty group and the chaos-driven DC-based State Freedom Caucus Network. These groups seemed more focused on causing trouble and "being loud" than helping legislators achieve tangible results.

Given the limited time we have on this planet, I'm convinced it's crucial to cut out distractions and reclaim time wherever possible. That's why I'm stepping away from the Idaho Freedom Caucus, effective immediately.

I want to make it clear that my decision isn't due to any wrongdoing or bad blood between members, etc.

The Idaho Freedom Caucus has consistently championed the advancement of conservative values, which I hold in high regard and I'll continue to work with them to promote these ideals in Idaho.

This decision is strictly a personal choice to better manage my time and commitments—full stop.

Thanks,

Brian Lenney
